SEDITION

The Suppression of Dissent in World War II New Zealand

a documentary by Russell Campbell

Winner, Media Peace Award, 2005

"A splendid - and long overdue - addition to the history of New Zealand and New Zealanders in World War Two. Sediton brings the story of conscientious objectors alive in the words and faces of the men caught up in the system of courts and detention camps, and the insights of historians. A riveting, disturbing and, at times, funny film. New Zealand's twentieth-century history is not complete without this part of the picture."

- Charlotte Macdonald, Associate Professor of History, VUW

"Sediton, in documenting a forgotten history, works against the grain of our cultural amnesia." - Rev Dr Steve Taylor, Methodist Taonga
